“An Ordinary Hero” is the amazing true story of one woman’s courage to help change the world. By the time she was 19 years old, legendary Civil Rights Activist Joan Trumpauer Mulholland participated in over three dozen sit-ins and protests, and was put on death row in Mississippi’s notorious Parchman Penitentiary with other Freedom Riders. A 2015 National Civil Rights Museum Freedom Award Recipient, she was involved in one of the most famous and violent sit-ins of the Movement at the Jackson Woolworth lunch counter and helped plan and organize the 1963 March on Washington.
